

RITUAL OF CHURCH JOINS THEIR LIVES

Bishop Satterlee Utters
Words That Unite Couple.

PRESIDENT TAKES PART

Full Ring Service of the Church Carried Out by the Bishop.

Wedding Ceremony

The regular ritual of the Protestant Episcopal Church was used at the wedding of Nicholas Longworth, Jr., of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Alice Lee Roosevelt in the East Room of the White House today at noon. As the procession reached the foot of the flowered altar on the temporary platform the Right Rev. Henry Yates Satterlee, bishop of the District of Columbia, stepped forward. Mr. Longworth stood at his right and Miss Roosevelt at his left. Then the ceremony began.

Dearest beloved, we are gathered together here in the sight of God, and in the face of this company, to join together in holy matrimony, an honorable estate instituted of God in the time of man's innocence, signifying unto us the mystical union that is between Christ and His church; whose holy estate Christ adorned and beautified with his presence and first miracle that he wrought in Cana of Galilee, which is commended of St. Paul to be honorable among all men, and therefore is not by any to be entered into unadvisedly or lightly, but reverently, discretely, advisedly, soberly, and in the fear of God. Into this holy estate, these two persons now present come to be joined, if any man can show just cause, why they may not lawfully be joined together, let him now speak, or else hereafter forever hold his peace.

A pause and deep silence.

The Bishop: I require and charge you both, as ye will answer at the dreadful day of judgment, when the secrets of all hearts shall be disclosed, that if either of you know any impediment why ye should not lawfully be joined together in matrimony, ye do now confess it. For he ye well assured that if any persons are joined together otherwise than as God's word doth allow, their marriage is not lawful.

Challenge to Groom.

Nicholas, wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy state of matrimony? Wilt thou love her, comfort her, honor her, and keep her in sickness and in health as long as ye both shall live?

Nicholas Longworth: I will.

The Bishop: Alice, wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy state of matrimony? Wilt thou obey him and serve him, love, honor, and keep him in sickness and in health, and forsaking all others, keep thee only unto him, so long as ye both shall live?

Alice Lee Roosevelt: I will.

Escorted by attendants, Mr. Longworth and Miss Roosevelt turned and passed to the prie-dieu before the altar.

Bishop Satterlee: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?"

President Roosevelt then stepped forward and presented Miss Roosevelt.

They Join Hands.

The bishop taking the right hands of bride and groom placed them in one another and said slowly, containing Representative Longworth to repeat it after him: "I, Nicholas, take thee, Alice, to be my wedded wife, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and cherish, till death us do part, according to God's holy ordinance, and thereto I plight my troth."

The couple loosed hands and Miss Roosevelt, taking Mr. Longworth by the right hand with her right, said after the bishop: "I, Alice, take thee, Nicholas, to be my wedded husband, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love, cherish, and to obey, till death us do part, according to God's holy ordinance, and thereto I give thee my troth."

Thomas H. Perkins handed Mr. Longworth a ring, which he gave to the bride, Bishop Satterlee, taking it from her gave it to the groom. Mr. Longworth placed it on the fourth finger of Miss Roosevelt's left hand.

Holding it there, the groom said after the bishop: "With this ring I thee wed, and with all my worldly goods I thee endow. In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

Bishop Satterlee: Let us pray.

The company joined in the Lord's Prayer.

All present: "O Eternal God, Creator and Preserver of all mankind, Giver of all spiritual gifts, and Author of everlasting life. Send Thy blessing upon these, Thy servants, this man and this woman, whom we bless in Thy name, that, as Isaac and Rebecca lived faithfully together, so these persons may surely perform and keep the vow and covenant betwixt them made whereof

Magnificent Gowns Create Scene of Splendor

All That Is Beautiful in the Modiste's Art Brought Into Play By Women of Note.

The costumes worn by the distinguished women attending were of the most elaborate character. Probably never in the history of social Washington has there been a more attractive display of the modiste's art. Prominent were the following:

Mrs. Fairbanks, wife of the Vice President—Heliopole chiffon cloth, trimmed richly with lace and embroidery, a long stole of ermine thrown over the shoulders and reaching the hem of her skirt, and a heliopole and lace hat.

Mrs. Shaw, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury—Lavender silk poplin, trimmed with quantities of cream lace and chiffon, and a white lace hat.

Mrs. Cortelyou, wife of the Postmaster General—White embroidered voile, ermine furs, and a white lace hat.

Mrs. Bonaparte, wife of the Secretary of the Navy—Black lace over cherry-colored silk, some historic jewels, and a black lace hat.

Miss Cannon—White broadcloth and Irish point lace, and a black hat and black gloves.

Mrs. David J. Brewer—White silk and point lace, white lace hat, and white gloves.

Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes—Black silk and duchess lace and a small black bonnet.

Lady Durand, wife of the British ambassador—Gray cloth and gray chiffon, gray bonnet, and gray furs, diamonds, and rings in quaint old settings.

Mrs. Root, wife of the Secretary of State—Dark green cloth, with plumes of the same color.

Miss Root—Cerulean broadcloth and blue lace, with a hat of the same color.

Christine Roosevelt, New York—Pale blue silk and lace, and a pale blue hat with black plumes.

Miss Margaret Roosevelt, New York—Cerulean silk and chiffon, with hat to match.

Mrs. Douglas Robinson, New York, sister of the President—Reseda panne velvet, trimmed heavily with lace, and bands of sable fur, a toque and muffs of sable finishing the costume.

Mrs. Joseph E. Foraker—Electric blue made up with chiffon and lace, and a hat of cloth of gold and blue, with blue ostrich plumes.

Miss Foraker—Coral cloth with lace and gold embroidery, and a hat of the same combination.

Mme. Quésada, wife of the minister from Cuba—Princess gown of red velvet and Irish point lace about the yoke and sleeves, and a large black hat.

Mrs. J. W. Foster—White, with a blue and white lace, and a white lace hat with white plumes and pink roses under the chin.

Mrs. William S. Bennett, New York—Gray satin and white lace, white lace hat and long black gloves.

Mrs. James B. Perkins, New York—Coral colored embroidered crepe, black hat and long black gloves.

Light Blue Broadcloth.

Mrs. Herman P. Goebel, Ohio—Light blue broadcloth, with opening over the shoulders, and a white lace hat with light blue trimmings with plumes.

Mrs. D. S. Alexander, New York—Irish rose point lace with silver embroidery and hat of cloth of silver and lace.

Mrs. Garret A. Hobart—Lavender broadcloth with draperies of old yellow tulle, lace, and hat of thread lace and velvet.

Mrs. J. W. Foster—White, with a blue and white lace, and a white lace hat with white plumes and pink roses under the chin.

Mrs. William Sheffield Cowles, sister of the President—Blue Olga velvet trimmed with point de Venice lace, the bodice cut a little square at the top, and filled with the lace, and a hat made of the same.

Mrs. James S. Sherman, New York—Handmade white chiffon, with silver lace and ermine trimmings, and a white lace hat with white plumes and pink roses under the chin.

Mrs. J. W. Foster—White, with a blue and white lace, and a white lace hat with white plumes and pink roses under the chin.

HE SUCCEEDS MR. TAYLOR

Promotion Gives General Satisfaction Throughout Department Circles in Washington.

Another example of rapid promotion in department circles has just been given to the young men of the country in the case of John H. Edwards, who will succeed Horace A. Taylor as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Edwards has been in the service of the Government for the short period of five years, yet he has just been designated to fill a position almost as important as that of a Cabinet portfolio.

The announcement of the change in the Assistant Secretaryship was made at the Treasury Department yesterday afternoon, and while there is much regret over the loss of the services of Mr. Taylor, the promotion of Mr. Edwards is one of the most popular ever made in the Treasury Department. Entering three years ago as private secretary to Mr. Shaw, he has a splendid record for efficiency and ability.

Rapid Advancement.

In many respects Mr. Edwards' rapid advancement is similar to that of Robert Armstrong, who here from Iowa as private secretary to Mr. Shaw when he entered the Cabinet. He was made Assistant Secretary within a remarkably short time, but he did not remain in the service long afterward, resigning to accept the presidency of an insurance company in New York.

John H. Edwards was born at South Charleston, Clark county, Ohio, in 1873. He was educated in the common schools, and began his career as a bank clerk in his home town. He was selected by Walter L. Weaver as his private secretary when the latter was elected to Congress in 1897, and served in that capacity until 1901, when Mr. Weaver was defeated.

Mr. Edwards' General Payne's attention was called to the splendid executive ability of the young Ohioan, and from the Capital Mr. Edwards was transferred to the Postoffice Department, where he served in a confidential capacity with Mr. Payne until March, 1903, when he became private secretary to Mr. Shaw.

Corps of Young Assistants.

The resignation of Mr. Taylor will take effect June 30, 1906, and when Mr. Edwards enters upon his new duties, Secretary Shaw will be surrounded by the youngest corps of assistants of any member of the Cabinet. Charles H. Keep and James B. Reynolds, assistant secretaries, are both young men.

It is not surprising that there be any change in the duties of the assistant secretaries upon the retirement of Mr. Taylor. Mr. Edwards is chiefly occupied with the Customs Service, and Mr. Keep is in charge of the personnel of the Treasury. Mr. Edwards' training as private secretary will fit him to assume the duties performed by Mr. Taylor.

BOY SAVES EXPRESS FROM WRECK IN AWFUL BLIZZARD

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Feb. 17.—Francis, a young boy, twelve years old, son of a farmer, gave the signal which prevented the wrecking of a heavily loaded passenger train in a raging blizzard.

The boy discovered a broken rail, and knowing that a passenger train was almost due, started to move it. The wind was howling at a gale and Francis was alone in the face of a most obscuring him from view.

Yelling at the top of his childish voice and energetically waving his cap and handkerchief, he attracted the engineer's attention. The train was stopped fifteen inches from the broken rail.

DR. MARY WALKER STRENUOUS INVALID

FAST REGAINS HER HEALTH

Proves Ability to Take Care of Herself Even When Patient on Sick Bed.

The physicians and nurses at the Sibley Memorial Hospital are being taught by present experience that Dr. Mary Walker has other masculine traits than the affection of masculine wear. Principal among these is an ability to take care of herself.

Dr. Walker is at the hospital, having made her arrival there in an ambulance on Thursday evening. She was seated on a chair in the ambulance and was covered with a shawl. Her leg hat was pulled down over her ears.

The nurses were sure they had a woman with some peculiar ideas about headgear to deal with, until Dr. Walker discarded the shawl. Then they thought they had a man, for Dr. Walker is a living and walking attack upon the theory that ladies' feet are tied on to the bottom of their skirts.

"I am Dr. Mary Walker," announced this self-confident invalid. "I am a woman, and I wear men's clothes because they are more convenient. I want a room, because I have an attack of bronchitis, but I desire very little else. Put me to bed."

Her command was obeyed, and Dr. Walker has been in the hospital ever since, preserving always her independence and self-sufficiency and gradually regaining her health. It was reported from the hospital this morning that she was greatly improved and in a few days would be up and out.

TALENTED YOUNG JAP

Groom Employed in U. S. Navy as Expert Machinist—Ten Days' Honeymoon.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Second and C streets northeast, this morning at 7:30 o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Margaret Sherry and Dominic Sonoyama, a young Japanese, employed at the Navy Yard.

Dominic Sonoyama, while a Japanese by birth, is a naturalized American. He has been employed as an expert machinist at the Navy Yard for four years. He is said to be one of the finest machinists in the service, having remarkable genius in that direction.

The wedding was performed with nuptial mass, in the presence of a number of friends. Father Schmidt officiated, assisted by Father Fealy. The young people left the city early this morning for a brief honeymoon through the country, and will be at home to their new home on Capitol Hill.

HEARD LOVER'S SECRET ON PHONE AND SHOT HERSELF

GALVESTON, Feb. 17.—Hearing her sweetheart telling a young woman in another town, over the telephone, of his love for her, Miss Bessie Frazier, telephone exchange operator at Lampasas, shot and killed herself. Miss Frazier chanced to make a connection on the line of her sweetheart used in calling up her rival, and listened to the conversation.

SOMETHING EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW.

Many women, formerly full of robust vigor, with clear complexions and bright, vivacious spirits, find themselves slowly losing their good looks and strength, fading under the influence of an unknown cause, ignorant of their real condition. Just when a woman should be at her best she becomes depressed, feeble, nervous. And why? You ask. She has been so busy planning, has been so absorbed with her social duties, her work has been so good, that she scarcely allowed herself a moment's relaxation. She has neglected her health, and where her food formerly seemed to nourish, now she has but little appetite and even what she does eat does not seem to do her any good. If you should ask her what the trouble is, she would say, "I am just tired out." But the real cause is constipation and its resulting condition—bad blood. Just think what health, the bowels of the bowels means—sickness instead of cheerfulness replaced by depression, happiness by misery. A week's use of

SMITH'S Pineapple and Butternut PILLS

will work wonders. They will regulate the functions of the liver and the bowels, immediately unload the congestion, cure the constipation and cleanse the blood of impurities.
